NOVEMBER IS THE MONTH OF THE HOLY SOULS

FRONT COVER: A view from inside our parish cemetery of St. Mary's, November, 2013. "Almighty God, Creator and Redeemer of all the faithful, grant to the souls of Thy departed servants the forgiveness of all their sins, so that by the prayers which we offer in affection, they may receive the pardon which they have always desired. Through Christ our Lord. Amen." (from the Roman Ritual)

Pastor's Note

"THE PLAGUE YEAR" OF 1918

When the Boston Red Sox won the World Series at Fenway Park on September 11th, 1918, the victory of the hometown team was eclipsed by a public health calamity known to history as the "Spanish Flu". From September to November a terrible influenza epidemic swept the world, killing 20-100 million people. It was 25% more deadly than more ordinary flu's. In this short span of time 28% of the U.S. population was stricken. So many died that the average life-span in the USA fell by 12 years in 1918.

In the United States this killer flu began in Boston when sailors on a troop ship began falling seriously ill on August 28th. Within a week the illness had spread to the civilian population in Boston. On September 8th

The flu appeared at Ft. Devens, thirty miles west of Boston, devastating the camp which was filled with young soldiers preparing to reinforce the Allied troops fighting in Europe.

This "Spanish Flu" (so-called because it had first appeared in Spain earlier that year, highly contagious but not so lethal as when it re-appeared in the fall) seemed targeted to strike young, healthy adults. Many Americans thought this flu was a German plot—germ-warfare brought into Boston Harbor by agents off a German submarine, as one rumor had it. (Gina Kolata: "Flu, the Story of the Great Influenza Pandemic of 1918 and the Search for the Virus that Caused It", A.D. 1999.) A play by Horton Foote (later made into a feature film) "1918", set in Texas during the Epidemic, captures something of the horror and sadness.

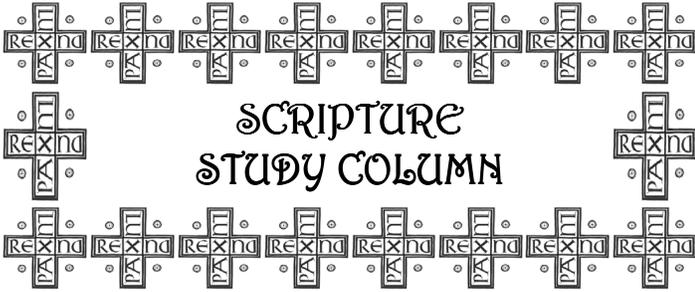

In my own family history, the Spanish Flu took its toll. My maternal grandmother's younger sister died: she was only seven. My grandmother told me that she remembered the endless procession of funeral hearses driving by her house in those weeks, day after day after day. My paternal grandfather's mother died, a woman in her prime, leaving behind a husband and four children behind. My paternal grandmother was a little girl of 10. She was lucky: she survived the disease although she had a long convalescence.

To this day, medical science has not been able to explain why this influenza-like disease was so lethal. The historical memory of the event itself has been collapsed into the history of World War I.

What strikes us looking back is how contingent and fragile our life is. God spare us another such event as the fall of 1918. But how important it is for us to keep our souls clean against a "sudden and unprovided death".

(Fr. Higgins)

SCRIPTURE STUDY COLUMN

GOSPEL OF SAINT LUKE BIBLE STUDY

Luke 4:14-30

After His fasting in the wilderness, Jesus returns to Galilee "in the power of the Spirit" to begin His public ministry (v. 14). Having laid aside His carpentry tools, He assumes the office of rabbi in his hometown synagogue. The text reveals to us that all the people (presumably many relatives and friends) wondered at His preaching. All along, they had known Him merely as one of their own, but the time had come for them to encounter Him as their Lord, as well. For this to occur, they needed the grace of the Holy Spirit to recognize Him as the God-man. The same is true for us. In the words of St. Paul, "no one can say, 'Jesus is Lord,' except by the Holy Spirit" (1 Cor. 12:3).

Consequently, one of the major characteristics of St. Luke's Gospel is the frequent mention of the Holy Spirit. The Holy Spirit is always mentioned in connection with the recognition of Jesus' identity as Son of God and Messiah. He is clearly present at the Annunciation (1:35), the Visitation (1:39-55), the Presentation in the Temple (2:27), and the Baptism (3:22), all of which are mysteries of the Rosary. Jesus himself explains that the Holy Spirit bears witness to Him, leading his followers into "all truth" (John 15:26, 16:13-14).

Therefore, St. Luke introduces the public ministry of Jesus with a programmatic quotation from the prophet Isaiah, telling us exactly who Jesus is, and what He has come to earth to do, as the commentators note. Fittingly, the first line with which Jesus heralds His ministry is this: "The Spirit of the Lord is upon me," quoting Isaiah 61:1. This passage foretells a time of healing and restoration for the people of Israel, after returning from Babylonian captivity. Isaiah describes the Messiah as the one who will bring salvation to people in distress.

Jesus authoritatively claims this divine Messiahship (4:21). Many of the Jews of that time, however, were expecting the Messiah to be a political hero who would promote Jewish national interests. This is precisely why they rejected Jesus: His reign was (and is) characterized by mercy to the poorest and His delivering them from the oppression of sin, the flesh, and the devil. Herein lies another of St. Luke's major themes: salvation to the nations, i.e., to non-Jews. Jesus detects unbelief and incredulity in the people of Nazareth, who could not equate the poor carpenter they knew with their conception of the Messiah, and thus, did not believe in Him. This is what is meant by Jesus' allusion to two episodes in the Old Testament where God showed mercy to suffering people who were not part of Israel (cf. I Kings 17, II Kings 5).

The heart of Jesus' message of salvation is His limitless love and compassion, as our Holy Father Pope Francis so frequently points out to us in his homilies. Each of us experiences some form of poverty, whether material, spiritual, emotional, or moral, for which we need good news. This good news consists in God delivering us from the captivity of sin and its disastrous effects in our lives. Jesus proclaimed this deliverance first in a liturgical setting with the public hearing of the word of God. To what degree do we prepare mentally and spiritually to hear the truth of the Scriptures at Mass, so as to encounter Jesus as our Lord and Master in the Sacrament of the Altar? It is there that He tenderly relieves our burdens with His infinite compassion, and brings "liberty to captives," and "let [s] the oppressed go free" (4:18).

MARY IMMACULATE OF LOURDES: PARISH PURGATORIAL SOCIETY

By this Purgatorial Society, the names of our dead friends and relatives may be enrolled (either as individuals or in aggregate), and prayed for especially in the 52 Masses that will be offered in the parish each year for the intention of the Purgatorial Society. The requested offering for a perpetual enrollment is $20.00. (White leatherette enrollment envelopes are available in the vestibule of the rectory.) The prayers we have offered at Mass for the souls of the faithful departed are both an expression of our belief in individual survival after the event of bodily death and of a charity towards our neighbor which reaches beyond the grave.

A partial list of the souls enrolled, including the most recent additions:

Anthony E. Palladino, Anne M. Dolitka McCabe, Philip Pisano, Karen Douglas, Andrew Struth, Gloria Brackett, Man-Hyung Lee, Bok-Nim Han, Kwi-Moon Lee, Florence Gainey, Loretta Droney, Rev. Terry Fulton, Soo-Ja Im, Jin-Hak Lee.

(New members' names will be printed in the parish bulletin at the end of each month. Please let us know if any names have been transcribed incorrectly or if you think your enrollment may have been overlooked.)

"It is therefore a holy and wholesome thought to pray for the dead, that they may be loosed from sins."

(II Machabees 12:46)

"If a compassionate charity towards all that are in any distress, even towards the most undeserving, be an essential ingredient of a Christian spirit, and one in which the very soul of religion and piety towards God consists, how much more should we exert our charity for those in spiritual need, no longer able to help themselves, and perhaps bound to us by ties of blood or friendship?"
—Fr. Herbert Thurston, S.J.

Parish Mission Statement

"What then is a parish? It is the smallest section of the one universal flock which has been entrusted to Peter by the Lord.

Under the authority of a responsible priest who has received the care of souls from his bishop, the parish is, within the Church of Jesus Christ, the first community of Christian life; it is a community cut to human dimensions, in which the shepherd can know his flock and the flock can know their shepherd ... At the heart of this area, we find the parish church with its bell-tower, its baptistery, its confessional, its altar and tabernacle, a symbol of unity and the centre of community life."

(Pope Paul VI, reigned 1963-1978)

LATIN MASS TEXTS: 26th Sunday after Pentecost (6th Sunday after Epiphany)

INTROIT: Jeremias 29: 11, 12, 14 The Lord saith: I think thoughts of peace, and not of affliction: you shall call upon Me, and I will hear you; and I will bring back your captivity from all places. Psalm 84: 2 Lord, Thou hast blessed Thy land: Thou hast turned away the captivity of Jacob. V. Glory be to the Father.

COLLECT Grant, we beseech Thee, almighty God, that ever pondering on reasonable things, we may accomplish, both in words and works, that which is pleasing in Thy sight. Through our Lord.

EPISTLE: 1 Thessalonians 1: 2-10 Brethren, we give thanks to God always for you all, making a remembrance of you in our prayers without ceasing, being mindful of the work of your faith and labor and charity, and of the enduring of the hope of our Lord Jesus Christ before God and our Father: knowing, brethren beloved of God, your election: for our Gospel hath not been unto you in word only, but in power also, and in the Holy Ghost, and in much fullness, as you know what manner of men we have been among you for your sakes. And you became followers of us and of the Lord, receiving the word in much tribulation, with joy of the Holy Ghost: so that you were made a pattern to all that believe in Macedonia and in Achaia. For from you was spread abroad the word of the Lord, not only in Macedonia and in Achaia, but also in every place your faith, which is towards God, is gone forth, so that we need not to speak any thing. For they themselves relate of us what manner of entering in we had unto you; and how you turned to God from idols to serve the living and true God, and to wait for His Son from heaven (Whom He raised from the dead), Jesus, who hath delivered us from the wrath to come.

GRADUAL: Psalm 43: 8-9 Thou hast delivered us, O Lord, from them that afflict us: and hast put them to shame that hate us. V. In God we will glory all the day: and in Thy name we will give praise for ever.

ALLELUIA: Psalm 129: 1-2 Alleluia, alleluia. V. From the depths I have cried to Thee, O Lord: Lord, hear my prayer. Alleluia.

GOSPEL: Matthew 13: 31-35 At that time Jesus spoke to the multitudes this parable: The kingdom of heaven is like to a grain of mustard seed, which a man took and sowed in his field: which is the least indeed of all seeds but when it is grown up, it is greater than all herbs and becometh a tree, so that the birds of the air come and dwell in the branches thereof. Another parable He spoke to them: The kingdom of heaven is like to leaven, which a woman took and hid in three measures of meal, until the whole was leavened. All these things Jesus spoke in parables to the multitudes: and without parables He did not speak to them: that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophet, saying: I will open my mouth in parables, I will utter things hidden from the foundation of the world.

OFFERTORY: Psalm 129: 1-2 From the depths I have cried out to Thee, O Lord: Lord, hear my prayer: from the depths I have cried out to Thee, O Lord.

SECRET May this offering O Lord, we beseech Thee, cleanse and renew us, guide and protect us. Through our Lord.

COMMUNION: Mark 11: 24 Amen I say to you, whatsoever you ask when you pray, believe that you shall receive, and it shall be done to you.

POSTCOMMUNION Being fed, O Lord, with heavenly delights, we beseech Thee, that we may ever hunger after things by which we truly live. Through our Lord.
