OUR PATRONAL FEAST

February 11th is the annual feast of the Apparition of the Immaculate Virgin Mary at Lourdes, which occurred on this date in 1858. It is the Patronal Feast of our parish of Mary Immaculate of Lourdes and so it is fitting that we should highlight it with liturgical celebration. In order to afford more of the parish the opportunity to be part of this celebration, we are availing ourselves of the provision to observe the external solemnity of this Patronal Feast on a Sunday.

February 9th, A.D. 2014 External Solemnity of Our Lady of Lourdes, Parish Patronal Feast
Mary Immaculate of Lourdes, Newton/Needham, Massachusetts

The beautiful photograph of the Grotto, which is the front-cover for this week's bulletin, was taken by parishioner Jan Paul Von Wendt. He and his wife Lisa host a website

CatholicTruth.net It is a very good resource for Catholic life.

I want to draw particular attention to the 54-day Novena of Prayer for families which is on the site.

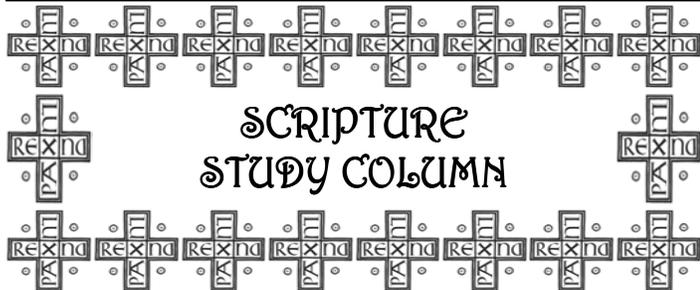

As we anticipate the Feast of Lourdes today, we also observe the custom of the Blessing of Throats which belongs to the Feast of St. Blaise on February 3rd. According to his Saint's Legend, as Bishop of Sebastea, Armenia, he followed divine direction by fleeing to a mountain cave when persecution arose. There in the cave he was surrounded by wild beasts whom he healed when they were sick or wounded, and so these beasts became his animal companions. Hunters who came in search of wild beasts for the amphitheatre found St. Blaise surrounded by the animals and, although amazed, they seized him as a Christian. On the way they met a poor woman grieving because her pig had been carried off by a wolf. St. Blaise rebuked the wolf and the wolf restored the pig unharmed. In another encounter, a desperate mother presented to the Saint her little boy who was at the point of death from a fishbone caught in his throat. St. Blaise healed him by touching his throat (Butler's Lives of the Saints, Thurston edition.)

For the St. Blaise blessing two candles held in the "X" form of a St. Andrew's Cross are touched to a person's throat or placed on the head. These two candles recall the kindness of the grateful woman whose pig was rescued from the wolf: while St. Blaise was awaiting execution, she brought him food, and tapers to dispel the darkness of his prison.

GOSPEL OF SAINT LUKE BIBLE STUDY

Luke 6:27-36

Jesus' teaching about loving enemies is often misconstrued in two ways. Firstly, some think that Jesus is telling us to be doormats, and compromise our integrity (all one has to do is to read Mt. 23 and see that Jesus was no doormat in the face of His enemies). Another common misinterpretation of this command is to think that Jesus wants us to like our enemies.

In context, Jesus uses the phrase "love your enemies" in order to challenge His original listeners to show love to others outside the people group of Israel, i.e., Gentile "enemies," as the Ignatius Study Bible explains. As we see in the parable of the Good Samaritan in 10:29-37, the supposed half-Gentile enemy (the Samaritan), is the one who actually proves to be the neighbor to the injured man. The Samaritan exemplifies Jesus' command: he blessed someone who likely would have hated and cursed him under normal circumstances (cf. v. 27). What about "turning the other cheek" to someone who hurts us (v. 29)? In saying this, Jesus is not encouraging us to welcome victimization. Rather, He uses this image to explain to his listeners that they are not to take "personal revenge," as the Ignatius Study Bible also notes.

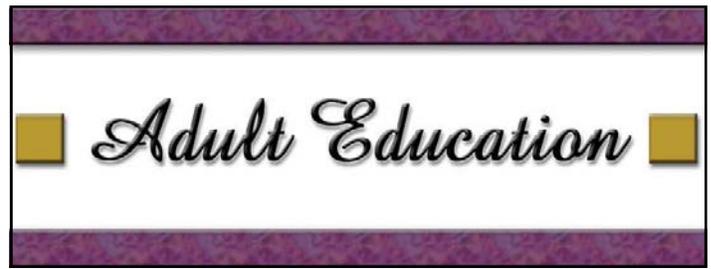

Peter Kreeft dismantles the second problematic interpretation (that Jesus wants us to like our enemies) quite well in his book Catholic Christianity. On p. 178, he writes the following: "love cannot be a feeling because feelings cannot be commanded; only free choices of the will can." In other words, we must distinguish between loving someone, which is an act of the will, and liking someone, which is a function of the sense appetite. For example, nothing can force us to like a bank robber. In contrast, love is the ability to will the good for another, according to St. Thomas Aquinas. Thus, to love the bank robber (to will his good), is to desire his repentance and growth in virtue. Likewise, most of us have been angry at family members at one time or another, and yet we can still love them, because ultimately we desire their good. Therefore, Jesus' prescription is not a false notion of meekness, nor is it an unrealistic injunction to try harder to like what is unlikeable.

Every command in this passage rests upon the final declaration in v. 36: "Be merciful, just as also your Father is merciful." Showing kindness to those who do not deserve it, as well as being liberal with our material goods for those in need (vv. 29-31, 35) all find their basis in the gratuitous loving-kindness of God, "from whom all blessings flow," as the hymn says. There is no material blessing we have received that does not come ultimately from our provident Heavenly Father. Thus, we have no right to withhold kindness from those in need.

This, of course, does not contradict the Church's social doctrine regarding private property rights, articulated so well in particular by Pope Leo XIII in his classic encyclical Rerum Novarum. The Church teaches that the right to private property (and by extension, personal assets and goods) respects and serves the dignity of the human person as well as the common good (cf. Catechism of the Catholic Church nos. 1907-1909, 1929-1930). Thus, Jesus is not advocating some kind of proto-Socialist schema. Rather, what Jesus warns us against is the pride that makes us feel entitled to receiving "credit" or praise when we've shown kindness to friends and family, or to those who owe us something in return (vv. 32-34). Thus, Jesus challenges us to move beyond the immediate comfort zone of feeling like we've checked off our charity "box" or fulfilled our "charity quota" for the year. Real charity consists in imaging God, who constantly bestows gifts upon us, even though we are sinners who stand infinitely in His debt, and cannot begin to repay Him (v. 35). This is the basis of the Church's social doctrine of solidarity (Catechism nos. 1939-1942). And thus, in v. 31 this passage, Jesus also articulates the "Golden Rule": "Do to others as you would have them do to you." In times of need, we would hope that we could rely on the solidarity of others. Let us then be sure to be vessels and channels of compassion for those in need.

THE APPARITION OF THE IMMACULATE VIRGIN MARY AT LOURDES (February 11th)

INTROIT: Apocalypse 21: 2; Ps. 44: 2 And the temple of God was opened in heaven; and the ark of His testament was seen in His temple, and there were lightnings and voices, and an earthquake and great hail. And a great sign appeared in heaven: A woman clothed with the sun, and the moon under her feet, and on her head a crown of twelve stars. And I heard a loud voice in heaven saying: Now is come salvation and strength and the Kingdom of our God and the power of His Christ.

COLLECT: O God, who by the Immaculate Conception of the Virgin didst prepare a worthy habitation for Thy Son; we humbly beseech Thee, that we who celebrate the feast of the Apparition of the same holy Virgin, may obtain health both of soul and body. Through our Lord.

EPISTLE: Apocalypse 11: 19; 12: 1, 10. And the temple of God was opened in heaven; and the ark of His testament was seen in His temple, and there were lightnings and voices, and an earthquake and great hail. And a great sign appeared in heaven: A woman clothed with the sun, and the moon under her feet, and on her head a crown of twelve stars. And I heard a loud voice in heaven saying: Now is come salvation and strength and the Kingdom of our God and the power of His Christ.

GRADUAL: Canticles 2: 12, 10, 14. The flowers have appeared in our land, the time of pruning is come, the voice of the turtle is heard in our land. Arise, my love, my beautiful one, and come; my dove in the clefts of the rock, in the hollow places of the wall. ALLELUIA: Alleluia, alleluia. Show Me thy face, let thy voice sound in Mine ears, for thy voice is sweet and thy face comely. Alleluia.

GOSPEL: Luke 1: 26-31. In those days, the Angel Gabriel was sent from God into a city of Galilee, called Nazareth to a virgin espoused to a man whose name was Joseph, of the house of David: and the virgin's name was Mary. And the Angel being come in, said unto her: Hail, full of grace, the Lord is with thee: blessed art thou among women. Who having heard, was troubled at his saying and thought with herself what manner of salutation this should be. And the Angel said to her: Fear not, Mary, for thou has found grace with God. Behold thou shalt conceive in thy womb and shalt bring forth a Son: and thou shalt call His name Jesus.

OFFERTORY: Luke 1: 28. Hail, full of grace, the Lord is with thee, blessed art thou amongst women.

SECRET: May the sacrifice of praise, which we offer Thee, O Lord, by the merits of the glorious and Immaculate Virgin, rise up to heaven as a sweet savour: and may it obtain for us that physical and moral health which we desire. Through our Lord.

PREFACE OF THE BLESSED VIRGIN MARY: It is truly meet and just, right and for our salvation, that we should at all times and in all places, give thanks unto Thee, O holy Lord, Father almighty, everlasting God and that we should praise and bless, and proclaim Thee, on the feast of the Immaculate Conception of Blessed Mary: ever Virgin: Who also conceived Thine only-begotten Son by the over-shadowing of the Holy Ghost, and the glory of her virginity still abiding, gave forth to the world the everlasting light, Jesus Christ our Lord. Through whom the angels praise Thy Majesty, the Dominations worship it, and the Powers stand in awe. The Heavens and the Heavenly hosts together with the blessed Seraphim in triumphant chorus unite to celebrate it. Together with them we entreat Thee, that Thou mayest bid our voices also to be admitted, while we say with lowly praise: Sanctus, sanctus, sanctus...

COMMUNION: Psalms 64: 10. Thou hast visited the earth, and hast plentifully watered it; thou hast in many ways enriched it.

POSTCOMMUNION: O Lord, may the right hand of Thine Immaculate Mother uplift us whom Thou hast satisfied with this heavenly food: that by her help we may deserve to come to our eternal fatherland: Who livest and reignest.
