AUGUST IS MONTH OF THE IMMACULATE HEART OF MARY

FRONT COVER: The altar of the side-chapel dedicated to Edith Stein in the church of St. Michael, Wroclaw (German: Breslau), Poland. Edith Stein was a German Jewish convert to Catholicism who became a Carmelite nun in 1933, and took the religious name 'Theresa Benedicta of the Cross'. Although a Catholic, she was still considered a "Jew" under Nazi race-laws, and so was transported with her sister Rosa and other Jewish-Catholics from Holland to Auschwitz concentration camp to be murdered. The date on the stone altar—August 9th, 1942—is the day of her death at Auschwitz. Thus, as a Jewish victim she won the Crown of Christian martyrdom. The Latin Motto reads "Ave, Crux, Spes unica—Hail, O Cross, our only Hope." It is from the Hymn of the Cross sung during Passiontide.

EDITH STEIN AND THE JEWISH CATHOLICS OF THE HOLOCAUST

In one of the side chapels of the church of St. Michael in the city of Wroclaw, Poland there is an altar dedicated to Edith Stein, whose name in religion as a Carmelite nun was St. Theresa Benedicta of the Cross. Today she is honored as a Virgin-martyr of the Church and her feast-day is celebrated on August 9th.

Edith Stein was from a German Jewish family. Today's Polish city of Wroclaw was the German city of Breslau when she was born. A philosopher and teacher, she converted to Catholicism shortly after World War I. The Church of St. Michael was the Catholic parish nearest to her family home in Breslau and that was the church where she attended Mass. It was especially fitting for her since St. Michael, the Guardian Angel of the Catholic Church, is also the Guardian Angel of Israel in the Old Testament.

St. Michael's Church in Breslau before 1945.

Edith Stein was murdered by the Nazis during the Holocaust, because their exterminationist anti-Semitism made no distinction between Christians with Jewish background and Jews in general. All were to be killed. In 1942, Edith Stein and her sister Rosa were arrested in Nazi-occupied Holland. They were put on a transport and sent across Germany, passing through their native city of Breslau, before they reached the Auschwitz concentration camp where they were murdered in a gas chamber. They were among hundreds of other people who, like them, were Catholics of Jewish background. That particular transport was made up entirely of Jewish Catholics.

Among the millions of European Jews killed in Hitler's genocide, the Christian Jews represent a small subset. They are all too easily forgotten in the historical narratives of that period, as if they had never existed. And indeed for those who were sent to the death camps almost all of them disappeared without a trace. But they did exist, and for some like Edith Stein they were very conscious of their dual identities as, at once, still part of the people of Israel and baptized believers in Israel's Christ, the Crucified Jesus of Nazareth.

SCRIPTURE STUDY COLUMN

GOSPEL OF SAINT LUKE BIBLE STUDY (Luke 11:1-4)

Whenever St. Luke portrays Jesus at prayer, it means that a revelation will follow. In response to His disciples' request to teach them how to pray (v. 1), Jesus gives them the Our Father. Beyond the liturgical prayers that Jews prayed daily, the disciples surely must have wondered at Jesus' intense private prayer. What was He saying? What kinds of intercession did He make for them before his Father? We might wonder the same things. What would it be like for us to listen in on Jesus' prayers for us right now in heaven (cf. Heb. 7:24-25)? We would probably fall to our knees in tears of repentance and love, resolved to become saints. Jesus gave us the Our Father so that we could enter into the kind of intense and intimate prayer life he enjoyed with the Father. Note that St. Luke's version of this prayer is shorter than St. Matthew's version.

"Father." Addressing God in this way boasts an intimacy with Him that no Jew would presume to have. Jews acknowledge God as Father in terms of His being the Creator, but they would never address Him thus. Jesus enables us to do so, however, since He is the eternal Son. Jesus' preferred word for His Father, "Abba," means "Daddy." As St. Paul teaches, those in Christ are God's adopted sons (cf. Gal. 4:6-7).

"Hallowed be your name." This is a statement of adoration. That God's name is to be hallowed means that we are to adore His transcendent holiness. God's name, "I am that I am" (cf. Ex. 3:14), is considered so exceedingly holy that Jews do not even pronounce it. Instead, they use the substitute word "Adonai," or "Lord." God's name reveals that He alone truly IS: all else is contingent upon Him. When we begin our prayer with the recognition of God's love for us as Father, as well as His awesome holiness, then we are prepared to make requests.

"Your kingdom come. Give us each day our daily bread." The petition for the coming of the kingdom is linked to the petition for daily bread. Our daily bread certainly refers to our material necessities. More profoundly, however, this prayer is a plea for God's divine life in the Blessed Sacrament. As some commentaries explain, the Greek word for "daily," literally means "above the substance," or "super-substantial." In using this word, Jesus refers to more than just our daily material needs. The bread He gives us is not bread at all, but His "flesh for the life of the world" (cf. Jn. 6:51). The substance of bread is changed into something infinitely higher. Jesus' kingdom comes most perfectly in the offering of the Mass and the worthy reception of Holy Communion.

"And forgive us our sins, for we ourselves forgive everyone who is indebted to us." This should give us pause. Have we forgiven everyone? Receiving forgiveness necessarily entails offering it, too. Any grievance we have against another person pales in comparison to the debt of human sin that God so lovingly forgives (cf. Mt. 18:21-35). This petition has a challenging expectation, but it allows us to become more like Jesus.

"And do not subject us to the final test." A better translation would simply be "and lead us not into temptation," as the traditional wording renders it. Christian life is spiritual warfare: a moment by moment contest between light and darkness. This petition appeals to God's providential protection against the snares of the devil. It leads us to acknowledge the primacy of God's will for our lives, and to cast ourselves upon His tender mercy to deliver us and help us in our need (cf. Heb. 4:16).

(David Allen)

NINTH SUNDAY AFTER PENTECOST

INTROIT: Psalm 53: 6-7 Behold God is my helper, and the Lord is the protector of my soul: turn back the evils upon my enemies, and cut them off in Thy truth, O Lord my protector. Psalm 53: 3 Save me, O God, by Thy name, and deliver me in Thy strength. V. Glory be to the Father.

COLLECT Let Thy merciful ears, O Lord, be open to the prayers of Thy suppliant people; and that Thou mayest grant them their petitions, make them to ask such things as shall please Thee. Through Our Lord.

EPISTLE: 1 Corinthians 10: 6-13 Brethren, let us not covet evil things, as they also coveted. Neither become ye idolaters, as some of them: as it is written: The people sat down to eat and drink, and rose up to play. Neither let us commit fornication, as some of them committed fornication, and there fell in one day three and twenty thousand. Neither let us tempt Christ, as some of them tempted, and perished by the serpents. Neither do you murmur, as some of them murmured, and were destroyed by the destroyer. Now all these things happened to them in figure, and they are written for our correction, upon whom the ends of the world are come. Wherefore he that thinketh himself to stand, let him take heed lest he fall. Let no temptation take hold on you, but such as is human: and God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that which you are able; but will make also with temptation issue, that you may be able to bear it.

GRADUAL: Psalm 8: 2 O Lord our Lord, how admirable is Thy name in the whole earth! V. For Thy magnificence is elevated above the heavens. ALLELUIA: Psalm 58: 2 Alleluia, alleluia. V. Deliver me from my enemies, O my God: and defend me from them that rise up against me. Alleluia.

GOSPEL: Luke 19: 41-47 At that time, when Jesus drew near to Jerusalem, seeing the city, He wept over it saying: If thou also hadst known, and that in this day, the things that are to thy peace: but now they are hidden from thy eyes. For the days shall come upon thee, and thy enemies shall cast a trench about thee, and compass thee round, and straiten thee on every side; and beat thee flat to the ground, and thy children who are in thee; and they shall not leave in thee a stone upon a stone, because thou hast not known the time of thy visitation. And entering into the temple, He began to cast out them that sold therein, and them that bought, saying to them: It is written, My house is the house of prayer, but you have made it a den of thieves. And He was teaching daily in the temple.

OFFERTORY: Psalm 18: 9, 10, 11, 12 The justices of the Lord are right, rejoicing hearts, and His judgments sweeter than honey and the honey-comb: for thy servant keepeth them.

SECRET Grant us, we beseech Thee, O Lord, worthily to frequent these sacred mysteries: for as often as this memorial sacrifice is offered, the work of our redemption is wrought. Through Our Lord.

Preface of the Holy Trinity

COMMUNION: John 6: 57 He that eateth My Flesh, and drinketh My Blood, abideth in Me, and I in him, saith the Lord.

POSTCOMMUNION May our reception of Thy holy Sacrament, O Lord, both purify us from sin and grant us unity in Thy service. Through Our Lord.
