ABOUT OUR PARISH

Welcome, New Parishioners and Sunday Visitors:

Mary Immaculate of Lourdes Parish is a canonically open parish of the Archdiocese of Boston, which has a Traditional Latin Mass apostolate. Both the ordinary form of the Roman Rite (1970 Missal) and the extraordinary form (1962 Missal) are celebrated here with the blessing of His Eminence Sean Cardinal O'Malley, Archbishop of Boston. We encourage new parishioners to please register in the parish and to introduce yourselves to the Pastor. We are always glad to welcome Sunday visitors here to our beautiful, historic church. We look forward to your coming again.

Parish Mission Statement

"What then is a parish? It is the smallest section of the one universal flock which has been entrusted to Peter by the Lord.

Under the authority of a responsible priest who has received the care of souls from his bishop, the parish is, within the Church of Jesus Christ, the first community of Christian life; it is a community cut to human dimensions, in which the shepherd can know his flock and the flock can know their shepherd ... At the heart of this area, we find the parish church with its bell-tower, its baptistery, its confessional, its altar and tabernacle, a symbol of unity and the centre of community life."

(Blessed Pope Paul VI, reigned 1964-1978)

Pastor's Note

LAETARE SUNDAY AND MID-LENT

Today we have an even more obvious pre-view and anticipation of Easter than we did on the Second Sunday in Lent, the Sunday of the Transfiguration. On this Fourth Sunday in Lent, called "Laetare Sunday" from the first word of the Introit Antiphon for Mass ("Laetare, Jerusalem—Rejoice, O Jerusalem, Isaias 66.10"), we hear the sound of the organ once again, the high altar is decorated with flowers, and the priest's vestments of the Mass are rose instead of the penitential violet.

We are given a glimpse of Easter today just before we enter into the most severe and concentrated phase of the Lenten pilgrimage. Next Sunday when we come to Church the statues and crosses will be veiled with purple shrouds for Passiontide. It is the time of mourning for Mother Church as she considers all that Christ Our Lord suffered for the sake of our salvation.

On Good Friday we will go "down into the depths" with Christ as we contemplate His death on the Cross and His descent into hell, the place of the dead, while His human body lay dead in the tomb. We must go there in spirit first before we follow Him in His glorious resurrection from the grave on Easter Eve at the Great Paschal Vigil.

I have placed this year's schedule of services during Holy Week on the opposite column. I encourage you to clear your calendars now and to attend as many of the Holy Week Offices in here in church as you can. The more the larger world around us is indifferent/oblivious/hostile to Christ's Paschal Mystery, the more attentive for our part we should be.

(Father Higgins)

SCRIPTURE STUDY

COLLECTS OF THE ROMAN MISSAL SUNDAY, MARCH 11th, 2018: SAINT PATRICK

For this week's meditation on the Collects of the Roman Missal, we consider the Collect for the Feast of St. Patrick, the principal patron of our Archdiocese of Boston, whose feast we will celebrate this Saturday (3/17). Below is the translation of this Collect from the MR'62 in the Angelus Press edition of the Daily Roman Missal:

"O God, Who didst vouchsafe to send blessed Patrick, Thy Confessor and Bishop, to preach Thy glory to the nations: grant, by his merits and intercession, that whatever Thou commandest us to do, we may by Thy mercy be able to fulfill. Through our Lord, etc. Amen."

The petition of our Collect brings to light two recurring ideas in St. Patrick's Confessions: (1) God's mercy, and (2) our obedient cooperation with God's providential will. St. Patrick is deeply conscious that his vocation to evangelize the Irish is entirely a grace from God (cf. Confessions nos. 23-24, 28, 34, 36, 38, 51, 62). In this way, he echoes St. Paul throughout his Confessions, St. Patrick often references St. Paul's epistles, from which he clearly draws parallels for his own life and mission).

We hear this moving prayer in Confessions no. 34: "I can truly ask, who am I, O Lord? And why have you called me? Why have You poured out so many divine graces upon me, so that today I can exalt and magnify Your name among the pagans in whatever place I find myself? Indeed not only when things are well, but also when they go badly, so that in evil or good, I always raise up thanks to God Who has shown me that I must never doubt Him." St. Patrick sees every aspect of his life as inextricably linked with God's providence, not as a negation of his freedom, but as a generous offer of grace to be embraced, and with which he may cooperate freely, courageously, and generously. In this way, St. Patrick's spirituality is entirely Marian, as much as it is Pauline. At every step, he seeks to discern God's will rightly, and to respond obediently and lovingly.

The Collect's two themes noted above are likewise apparent as St. Patrick relates to us the many dangers he has endured throughout his life, including the frequent possibility of martyrdom. Without any hesitation, he recognizes his utter dependence upon God's grace, again echoing St. Paul (cf. Confessions nos. 35-38, 55-58). We read this moving testimony in Confessions no. 55: "...every day I am expecting to be killed or robbed or reduced to slavery. But I do not fear because of the promise of heaven; indeed I throw myself into the hands of the all-powerful God who controls everything." St. Patrick hopes confidently in God's merciful providence, no matter what.

Additionally, like St. Paul, St. Patrick is deeply conscious of God's abundant mercy for him as a sinner. We see this not only in regard to one particular grave sin from his past which he relates to us, as well as one particular moment of extreme temptation, but also more generally as regards his ongoing sinfulness and weakness (cf. Confessions nos. 20, 26-31, 44-46). It is quite disarming and edifying to hear such a mighty saint speak about God's mercy in such a personal way. As he explains, "The Lord had mercy on me a million times for He saw what His plan was for me..." (cf. Confessions no. 46). This is a wonderfully reassuring line for all of us as we strive for greater holiness, especially during Lent.

St. Patrick's sanctity demonstrates so compellingly the truth and joy of the Gospel, even in the midst of suffering. We have much to learn from him. His excelling degree of free cooperation with divine grace makes him a wonderful saint to whom we may have recourse. May his merits and prayers help us to become the saints God calls us to be.

LATIN MASS PROPERS: LAETARE SUNDAY

INTROIT: Psalm 66. 10-11, Psalm 21. 1 Rejoice, O Jerusalem: and come together all you that love her: rejoice with joy, you that have been in sorrow: that you may exult, and be filled from the breasts of your consolation. Psalm. I rejoiced at the things that were said to me: we shall go into the house of the Lord. V. Glory be to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Ghost. As it was in the beginning, is now, and ever shall be, world without end. Amen. — Rejoice, O Jerusalem ...

COLLECT: Grant, we beseech Thee, almighty God, that we who are justly afflicted for our deeds, may be relieved by the consolation of Thy grace. Through our Lord ...

EPISTLE: From Epistle of Blessed Paul to the Galatians (Gal. 4. 22-31) Brethren: It is written that Abraham had two sons; the one by a bondwoman and the other by a free woman. But he who was of the bondwoman was born according to the flesh; but he of the free woman was by promise; which things are said by an allegory. For these are the two testaments. The one from Mount Sinai, engendering unto bondage: which is Agar: for Sinai is a mountain in Arabia, which hath affinity to that Jerusalem which now is, and is in bondage with her children. But that Jerusalem which is above, is free, which is our mother. For it is written: Rejoice, thou barren that bearest not: break forth and cry, thou that travailest not: for many are the children of the desolate, more than of her that hath a husband. Now we, brethren, as Isaac was, are the children of promise. But as then he that was born according to the flesh, persecuted him that was after the spirit: so also it is now. But what saith the Scripture? Cast out the bondwoman and her son: for the son of the bondwoman shall not be heir with the son of the free woman. So then, brethren, we are not the children of the bondwoman but of the free: by the freedom wherewith Christ has made us free.

GRADUAL: Psalm 121. 1,7 I rejoiced at the things that were said to me: we shall go into the house of the Lord. Let peace be in Thy strength: and abundance in Thy towers. TRACT Psalm 124. 1,2 They that trust in the Lord shall be as Mount Sion: he shall not be moved forever that dwelleth in Jerusalem. Mountains are round about it: so the Lord is round about His people, from henceforth now and forever.

GOSPEL: Continuation of the holy Gospel according to St. John 6. 1-15 At that time Jesus went over the sea of Galilee, which is that of Tiberias: and a great multitude followed Him, because they saw the miracles which He did on them that were diseased. Jesus therefore went up into a mountain: and there He sat with His disciples. Now the pasch, the festival day of the Jews, was near at hand. When Jesus therefore had lifted up His eyes, and seen that a very great multitude cometh to Him, He said to Philip: Whence shall we buy bread that these may eat? And this He said to try him, for He Himself knew what He would do. Philip answered Him: Two hundred pennyworth of bread is not sufficient for them, that every one may take a little. One of His disciples, Andrew, the brother of Simon Peter, saith to Him: There is a boy that hath five barley loaves and two fishes; but what are these among so many? Then Jesus said: Make the men sit down. Now there was much grass in the place. The men therefore sat down, in number about five thousand. And Jesus took the loaves, and when He had given thanks, He distributed to them that were set down: in like manner also of the fishes, as much as they would. And when they were filled, He said to His disciples: Gather up the fragments that remain, lest they be lost. They gathered up therefore, and filled twelve baskets with the fragments of the five barley loaves which remained over and above to them that had eaten. Now those men, when they had seen what a miracle Jesus had done, said: This is of a truth the Prophet that is to come into the world. Jesus therefore when He knew that they would come to take Him by force and make Him king, fled again into the mountain, Himself alone.

OFFERTORY: Psalm 134. 3,6 Praise ye the Lord, for He is good: sing ye to His Name, for He is sweet: Whatsoever He pleased, He hath done in heaven and in earth.

SECRET: Look favorably upon these present Sacrifices, we beseech Thee, O Lord, that they may profit us unto both devotion and salvation. Through our Lord ...

COMMUNION: Psalm 121. 3-4 Jerusalem, which is built as a city, which is compact together: for thither did the tribes go up, the tribes of the Lord, to praise Thy Name, O Lord.

POSTCOMMUNION: We are constantly filled with Thy holy Mysteries, O merciful God: grant, we beseech Thee, that we may celebrate them with sincere homage and always receive them with steady faith. Through our Lord Jesus Christ, Thy Son ...
