ABOUT OUR PARISH

Welcome, New Parishioners and Sunday Visitors:

Mary Immaculate of Lourdes Parish is a canonically open parish of the Archdiocese of Boston, which has a Traditional Latin Mass apostolate. Both the ordinary form of the Roman Rite (1970 Missal) and the extraordinary form (1962 Missal) are celebrated here with the blessing of His Eminence Sean Cardinal O'Malley, Archbishop of Boston. We encourage new parishioners to please register in the parish and to introduce yourselves to the Pastor. We are always glad to welcome Sunday visitors here to our beautiful, historic church. We look forward to your coming again.

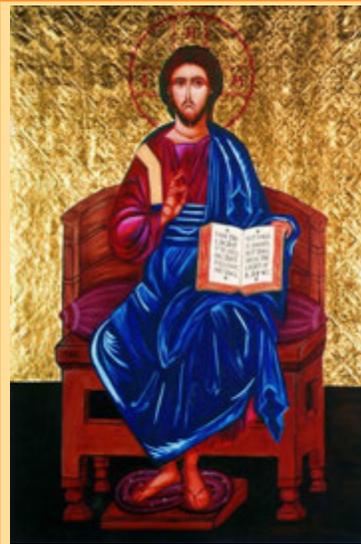

PLEASE TAKE THE TIME TO FILL OUT A PARISH REGISTRATION FORM.

FRONT COVER: Icon of Christ the King upon a royal throne and crushing under His feet the serpent who represents Satan. In the 1962 Roman Missal the Feast of Our Lord Jesus Christ is observed on the last Sunday before October, close to the Feast of All Saints on November 1st. This Feast, instituted by Pope Pius XI in 1925, emphasizes the "Social Kingship" of Christ over the ordering of all human society.

Parish Mission Statement

"What then is a parish? It is the smallest section of the one universal flock which has been entrusted to Peter by the Lord.

Under the authority of a responsible priest who has received the care of souls from his bishop, the parish is, within the Church of Jesus Christ, the first community of Christian life; it is a community cut to human dimensions, in which the shepherd can know his flock and the flock can know their shepherd ... At the heart of this area, we find the parish church with its bell-tower, its baptistery, its confessional, its altar and tabernacle, a symbol of unity and the centre of community life."

(Pope Saint Paul VI, reigned 1964-1978)

Pastor's Note

Fr. Higgins

THE SOCIAL KINGSHIP OF CHRIST AND CHURCH SUPPORT

An important part of our Christian faith is to understand the totality of Jesus Christ's redemptive work upon the earth. It extends to all human affairs, including the ordering of society. Christ has redeemed the social order together with our individual souls, and if we want to have a happy and positive society then we need to pay attention to how the ways of the Gospel would have us do it. We need to pay attention to what is called the "Social Kingship of Christ".

The support that we as Catholics are bound to give for the maintenance of the Church, out of our own substance, ought to be understood in connection with this Social Kingship of Christ. We are not permitted to separate our individual faith-commitment to Christ from our social duty to give our "church support" in proportion to our means.

Having the responsibility to maintain a parish church as its Pastor, I am more and more aware of how widespread the problem of non-giving is among Catholics. There may still be a sense of conscience about the Sunday obligation, that is, that skipping-out on Sunday Mass without good reason is a sin. But there is little to no corresponding sense of conscience that not paying attention to supporting the parish church with your donor dollars is also a negligence. Failure to give adequate church support is, I think, a very good example of a "sin-of-omission". It is also a failure in charity towards love-of-neighbor because it allows for others of your fellow-Catholics to be burdened with sacrificial giving while you are not.

The difficulty of supporting a church structure has been here from the beginnings of the Catholic Church in the United States, a "missionary country", where everything had to be started from scratch.

At the First Synod of Baltimore in 1791, the American bishops declared the following:

Owing to the increasing number of Catholics dispersed over widely-separated tracts of the United States, there is need of a much larger number than formerly of laborers in the Lord's vineyard, and these cannot be obtained or supported unless the means be given by the faithful as indeed they are bound by Divine precept to give them, for the Apostle says that it is but just that those who sow spiritual things for others should reap of the latter's carnal things (I Cor. 9:11). Therefore the faithful should be frequently reminded of this obligation, and if they do not satisfy it, they have only themselves to blame if they cannot have Mass on Sundays or feast days nor obtain the sacraments in their extreme necessities....

We cannot say then that we are in an entirely new situation in America on account of the clergy scandals and the other "issues-of-the-day" regarding the problems of raising adequate church support from what the people-of-God are freely willing to give. We might even say that the phenomenal building projects of the immigrant Catholic Church, which lasted roughly a century from the American Civil War to the 1960s, masked the underlying weakness of the U.S. Church's real ability to support itself from the voluntary gifts of the faithful.

"GRATITUDE IS THE THING THAT BRINGS US THE MOST GRACE...I HAVE LEARNT THIS FROM EXPERIENCE; TRY IT AND YOU WILL SEE. I AM CONTENT WITH WHATEVER GOD GIVES ME, AND I SHOW HIM THIS IN A THOUSAND LITTLE WAYS."—ST. THERESE OF LISIEUX (+1897)

COLLECTS OF THE ROMAN MISSAL

David Allen

POPE SAINT JOHN PAUL II

(Missale Romanum 1970)

For this week's meditation on the Collects of the Roman Missal, we consider the Collect for the optional memorial of Pope Saint John Paul II, celebrated on October 22, the anniversary of his installation as pope in 1978. Below is the day's Collect in the third typical edition of the Roman Missal (2010):

"O God, who are rich in mercy and who willed that the blessed John Paul the Second should preside as Pope over Your universal Church, grant, we pray, that instructed by his teaching, we may open our hearts to the saving grace of Christ, the sole Redeemer of mankind. Who lives and reigns, etc. Amen."

One of the joys of Christian life is that of knowing and remembering contemporary saints. Most of those reading this column will have vivid recollections of Pope Saint John Paul II both in life and at his death. Even though I was still an Anglican in 2005, I vividly recall watching the last days and the funeral of John Paul II (as well as Benedict's XVI's election) and feeling a distinctly strong pull towards the Petrine Office as the orienting center of Christendom. For a brief moment, all of it trumped my "difficulties" with Catholicism, in the words of St. John Henry Newman (until they were finally settled in 2009, thanks be to God!). God bestowed many graces on many people in the events of those days

Our Collect is particularly wonderful in making explicit reference to three seminal ideas of our Saint's papal magisterium, two of which are encyclical titles: 1) that God is rich in mercy (Dives in misericordia), 2) that every human person is called to open the doors of their lives to Christ (from his homily at his installation as pope), and 3) that Christ is the sole redeemer of mankind (Redemptor hominis). These themes have defined modern papal magisterium, for we find them in the teaching of Pope Emeritus Benedict XVI and Pope Francis.

We do well to observe what our Collect's motive clause recommends, namely, that we be instructed by St. John Paul II's teaching. Indeed, his encyclicals and many other forms of teaching have not lost any of their ability to speak powerfully to our present situation. To be instructed by papal magisterium necessarily implies a desire on our part to be taught and to learn. This also demands that we actually sit and read the primary sources, and do so with love and humility. We may extend this principle to any form of official papal teaching or exercise of ordinary magisterium. We must have the humility and the desire to learn.

The Catechism of the Catholic Church and the Code of Canon Law both instruct us to read and receive papal documents "with docility" and "religious submission of the intellect and will" (CCC nos. 87, 2037, CIC no. 752). How faithful are we to this injunction? I am astonished at the fact that so many Catholics don't even know what they don't know, simply because they do not read papal magisterium, which is addressed not only to theologians, but to all the faithful for their edification and growth in the knowledge of the truth. I promise you: read papal documents with faith, humility, and love, and you will be surprised at the wonderful things you learn. Let us strive, in the words of our Collect, to "open our hearts to the saving grace of Christ," when we read the words of the popes, past and present.

LATIN MASS PROPERS: FEAST OF OUR LORD JESUS CHRIST THE KING

INTROIT: (Apoc. 5. 12; 1. 26; Ps. 71. 1) The Lamb that was slain is worthy to receive power and divinity and wisdom and strength and honor; to Him be glory and empire for ever and ever. Ps. 71. 1. Give to the King, O God, thy justice, and to the King's Son Thy judgment. ℟. Glory be to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Ghost. As it was in the beginning, is now, and ever shall be, world without end. Amen. — The Lamb ...

COLLECT Almighty and everlasting God, who in Thy beloved Son, the King of the whole world, hast willed to restore all things, mercifully grant that all the families of nations now kept apart by the wound of sin, may be brought under the sweet yoke of His rule: Who with Thee liveth and reigneth in the unity of the Holy Ghost ...

EPISTLE: From the Letter of Blessed Paul the Apostle to the Colossians, 1. 12-20. Brethren: Giving thanks to God the Father, who hath made us worthy to be partakers of the lot of the Saints in light: who hath delivered us from the power of darkness, and hath translated us into the kingdom of the Son of His love, in whom we have redemption through His Blood, the remission of sins; who is the image of the invisible God, the first born of every creature: for in Him were all things created in heaven and on earth, visible and invisible: whether thrones, or dominations, or principalities, or powers, all things were created by Him and in Him; and He is before all, and by Him all things consist, and He is the head of the body of the Church, who is the beginning, the first-born from the dead, that in all things He may hold the primacy because in Him it hath well-pleased the Father that all fullness should dwell; and through Him to reconcile all things unto Himself, making peace through the Blood of His cross, both as to the things on earth, and the things that are in heaven, in Christ Jesus our Lord.

GRADUAL: Psalm 71. 8, 11 He shall rule from sea to sea, and from the river to the ends of the earth. And all kings shall adore Him, all nations shall serve Him. ALLELUIA Daniel 7. 14 His power shall be an everlasting power, which shall not be taken away; and His kingdom a kingdom that shall not decay. Alleluia.

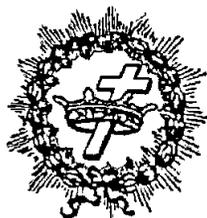

GOSPEL: Continuation of the holy Gospel according to St. John, 18. 33-37. At that time: Pilate said to Jesus: Art Thou King of the Jews? Jesus answered: Sayest thou this thing of thyself, or have others told it thee of Me? Pilate answered: Am I a Jew? Thine own nation and the chief priests have delivered Thee up to me: what hast Thou done? Jesus answered: My kingdom is not of this world. If My kingdom were of this world, My servants would certainly strive that I should not be delivered to the Jews; but now My kingdom is not from hence. Pilate therefore said to Him: Art Thou a king then? Jesus answered: Thou sayest that I am a King. For this was I born, and for this came I into the world, that I should give testimony to the truth. Every one that is of the truth, heareth my voice.

OFFERTORY: Psalm 2. 8 Ask of Me, and I will give thee the nations for thine inheritance, and the ends of the earth for thy possession.

SECRET: O Lord, we offer Thee the Victim of man's redemption: grant, we beseech Thee, that Jesus Christ Thy Son our Lord, whom we are immolating in this sacrifice, may Himself bestow on all nations the gifts of unity and peace: Who with Thee liveth and reigneth ...

COMMUNION: Psalm 28. 10, 11 The Lord shall sit as King for ever: the Lord shall bless His people in peace.

POSTCOMMUNION: We have received the food of immortality and beg, Lord, that we who are proud to fight under the banner of Christ our King, may reign with Him for ever in His realm above: Who liveth and reigneth ...
